Metropolitan Sewer Plan Is Explained

"How could any one vote against a proposition like that?" was the question asked by one fair voter at the conclusion of the address by Engineer A. K. Warren at the chamber of commerce dinner Monday night. A large proportion of the 100 or more people present evidently had the same feeling after the chief engineer of the county sanitation district had explained the plan.

Col. Herman Hall, president of the chamber of commerce, presided at the meeting which was called for public consideration of the biggest project in which Sierra Madre has been interested for a long time. The delicious menu prepared and served by the woman's club committee served to put the audience in the best of humor and a good listening mood. The speakers lost no time in the handling of their topics and the meeting adjourned at nine o'clock, setting a good example for all similar affairs.

A. K. WARREN

Mr. Warren reviewed the history of the big sewer project from its inception as a solution of the problems of some of the communities in the lower parts of the county. There the water plane is so near the surface that sewage disposal presents a vital difficulty in avoiding pollution of water supplies. The proposal to build an outfall ocean disposal line proved so attractive that other areas adjacent asked to be admitted with the original district. Several of these districts have already voted bonds to join in the project.

Bond Election Soon
 Sierra Madre is located in district No. 7, which includes 13 municipalities and a considerable amount of unincorporated territory in the San Gabriel valley. This district will vote as a whole on Jan. 26 on the issuance of $4,400,000 in bonds. This amount will provide a network of trunk lines throughout the district, with a main trunk line to reach the treatment plant near Compton, and will bear the district's share of the cost of the ocean outfall line to White's Point and 2300 feet at sea.

These bonds, thus, provide only for a disposal system. It will be necessary for each municipality to provide its own system of local mains to connect with these trunk line.

The Taxpayer's Bill
 As to the cost of this disposal system, Mr. Warren estimates that the maximum cost to the taxpayer will be 28 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation. This will decrease from year to year as the 40-year bonds are retired and interest charges decrease. This tax is also said to include operating cost of the disposal system.

Cost of local mains and house connections vary somewhat according to local conditions. Mr. Warren estimated the cost for Sierra Madre at somewhere from $1.25 to $1.50 a front foot for laying the mains and bringing the pipe to the curb line. House connections would be declared.

All of these costs, declared Mr. Warren, would not be greater than the cost of providing and maintaining cesspools. Considering the

Observations (By G. B. M.)

FROM IOWA TO TEXAS
 "You certainly had our old farm down to a picture," is the comment made by Grace Noll Crowell, author of "The Magi," the Christmas poem which appeared on the first page of the Christmas issue of the News. She referred to my Observations concerning her girlhood home in Iowa.

The copy of the News reached Mrs. Crowell at her home in Dallas, Texas, by way of the office of Good Housekeeping in New York. In return she writes me a delightful letter, with news of other members of her family and mutual friends. Her mother, who used to feed us town boys cookies and pie and peaches and cream, is still living in Idaho at the age of 84.

Mrs. Crowell's husband is also an author. She has recently published a prize winning volume of poems entitled "White Fire," under the auspices of the Poetry Society of Texas.

FINDING MUTUAL FRIENDS

In Sierra Madre it is pretty hard to lose contact with people with whom you have had direct acquaintance or mutual friends. For instance, Mrs. Crowell writes me that before receiving the News by way of Good Housekeeping she had received a clipping with the poem and comment on it from her brother-in-law in Hollywood. He had received it from a friend in Sierra Madre, Henry Isaacs of Sturtevant Road. Mr. Isaacs happened to be acquainted with Mr. Crowell of Hollywood and sent him the clipping, knowing of the family connection with Mrs. Crowell of Dallas.

Such contacts are not uncommon anywhere in Southern California. But in Sierra Madre I believe they are unusually frequent because of the fact that the location and climate attract residents from almost every place under the sun. It is one of the things that make life in Sierra Madre interesting above the average.

AMAZING NUMBER OF WORTH-WHILE PEOPLE

This same feeling regarding the people of Sierra Madre was voiced the other day by Henry Dolph of West Highland avenue. Mr. Dolph says he never saw a place where there was so many interesting people. Most places many times as large do not have nearly so many people who would command attention in any surroundings.

It is perfectly true that in the character of its population Sierra Madre is out of the ordinary. Consider almost any town of the size in the older parts of the country. The population is largely static, with little change from decade to decade. There will be found a dozen or two people who have had the advantage of college training, or extensive travel, or contact with important people or undertakings of the world. For the most of the population life is circumscribed and provincial.

What a difference in Sierra Madre! People by the score from the ends of the earth, people with broad culture, important business connections, people who have themselves done big things. There is a constant procession of them from year to year. Some go on their way, some remain with us.

Among engineers, to take a single profession, I recall men who have had a part in or have actually been in command of world famous works in many countries: reclamation works and dams in the northwest, bridges in the Andes, tunnels under great rivers, irrigation projects in Mesopotamia, Niagara Falls power plants, famous railroad building, world's fair construction work, modern air-brake development, and successful radio pioneering.

In almost any profession, men and women of distinction can be pointed out in Sierra Madre from time to time. When the real essence of life consists so largely of people you know, isn't it good to live where there are so many people worth knowing?

FRIENDLY APPRECIATION

"Count me as one of those who read and enjoy your column of Observations," remarked Frederick Campbell the other day. Which reminds me that I have often had occasion to think of Mr. Camp-

Thrift Talk Is Promised At P. T. A.

Next Wednesday, Jan. 20, at the regular monthly meeting of the P. T. A., the speaker will be Miss Grace Stoerner, well known Bank of Italy representative and prominent club woman of Los Angeles, who will speak on "Thrift."

Inasmuch as the school children of Sierra Madre have recently been given the advantage of a school savings system, this subject should be of vital interest to all parents, especially as the savings project has been made possible through the financial assistance of President H. E. Allen of the local bank, and the able efforts of Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, the school principal.

Miss Stoerner is a very clever speaker. Due to her wide experience she is able to fill this subject with life and practical interest. It is hoped that a large attendance at the meeting will reward the program chairman for her efforts in obtaining this speaker.

The cafeteria menu for next week is as follows:

- Monday, cheese cream toast, buttered carrots.
- Tuesday, hot bean salad, tomato soup.
- Wednesday, noodles with hamburger, cabbage.
- Thursday, vegetable soup, banana squash.
- Friday, baked beans, scalloped turnips and peas.

The cafeteria committee will be grateful for volunteers to help between 11:45 and 1:15 daily; also for suggestions as to menus and service. Criticisms are always gratefully received, but it is hoped that all criticism is based upon fact, and not upon distorted tales passed on by word of mouth. If any dissatisfied mother will only volunteer to give the much needed help for even one day, she can see conditions for herself and be in a safer position to judge and at the same time do her bit. Some of our helpers have no children in the school at present, others have children who eat lunch at home and do not need the cafeteria, and others have children who patronize daily and are grateful.

Amongst those who have assisted recently are Mrs. Brain, Mrs. Glidden, Mrs. Frederick, Mrs. Dickinson, Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Jas. Hawks, Mrs. Ashley Smith, Mrs. Ivy and Mrs. Austin Scott.

—Mignonette Gruit.

Fire of threatening proportions was started Sunday morning in the brush on the west side of Sierra Madre canyon. A small army of men was quickly marshalled and had the fire under control in less than an hour. The new fire-break proved a valuable aid in affording a base of operations. Forest Ranger M. H. Davis and Marshal A. M. Udell consider the present unseasonable dryness as offering an unusual fire hazard in the mountains which may make necessary the establishing of patrols on a summer basis.

bell's capacity for appreciation, a faculty which is all too rare in these days when most people imagine they are too busy to say "Thank you."

TAMALES AN AID TO PRONUNCIATION

If you feel like tackling a linguistic labyrinth read Dennis Stovall's letter on the subject of the pronunciation of Sierra Madre. He deserves the medal for real interest in trying to find the right way before ever seeing Sierra Madre. What a shock to come here and find so few people making any attempt to say it right!

Doubtless the Century dictionary will be glad to find itself bolstered up by the Oregon tamales peddler. But the International dictionary does not seem to require us to trill or lisp the "dr" in Madre. Consonants do not contribute much to musical pronunciation—it is the correct vowel sounds that make Spanish pleasing.

I'm perfectly willing to take the tame prescription which Dennis suggests, regardless of pronunciation.

Annual Meeting And Dinner at Parish House

The annual parish meeting of the Church of the Ascension was held Tuesday evening in the parish house. It was preceded by an excellent dinner furnished by the Woman's guild. A large and representative gathering indicated a healthy interest in parish affairs.

The reading of the report of the rector, Rev. Father Kneeland, was followed by reports from representatives of the various organizations affiliated with the church. Delegates to the diocesan convention were chosen, and the following vestrymen were elected to serve for the coming year: Messrs. T. M. Webster, C. J. Pegler, C. H. Perry, H. Daveness, J. N. Hawks, C. F. Vannier, T. H. Flather, Dr. Rich, Fred Griebenow.

PUPILS MAKE THRIFT HABIT WITH BANKS

More than 150 Sierra Madre school children are participating in the school savings association recently organized through the co-operation of the Sierra Madre Savings bank and Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal.

Mrs. Joy Butler, representative of the Los Angeles school savings association, gave one of her monthly talks before the school pupils Tuesday. Mrs. Butler has the happy faculty of interesting the youngsters in the effort to encourage habits of thrift.

Each pupil participating is given a small savings bank and encouraged to make a bank deposit whenever a dollar or more is accumulated, on which interest is paid. So far as the bank is concerned the volume of business does not justify the expense incurred, but President Allen regards the movement as a public benefit which deserves encouragement.

Roll King Off to New York

Mr. and Mrs. Rol King leave this week for New York City, where Mr. King's mining and other business now requires him to spend most of his time. They will go by way of Florida, stopping off at Miami, "just to see what it is all about." Mr. King says he does not relish the prospect of spending the cold, wet spring months in New York where the air is so thick with soft smoke that nothing can be kept clean. They make their home in the Hotel Berkeley while there. Every time he returns from the east Mr. King says Sierra Madre looks like heaven to him, and he is looking forward to the time when he can spend most of his time here.

PUPIL WINS VIOLIN PRIZE

Music lovers who have heard the programs of the Seiling Ensemble given in Sierra Madre and over the radio, will be interested to know that Miss Laura Berkowitz was awarded the first prize in her class in the recent Elstodoff competition in Los Angeles. The trophy was a fine silver cup. Miss Berkowitz has played solos on most of the programs given by Oscar Seiling's pupils this season, winning cordial approval from her hearers. As she is only sixteen years of age a brilliant future is predicted for her.

STATE PICNICS COMING SOON

Picnics and other reunions for residents of the various states announced for the near future are as follows:

Call to Pulpit Accepted By Rev. Pritchard

Accepting a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Congregational church of Sierra Madre, Rev. Albert O. Pritchard of Pasadena begins his ministry next Sunday. The call was extended to him at a largely attended special meeting of members of the church on Sunday morning. Mr. Pritchard preached in the church two Sundays just after the passing of Dr. Fred Staff.

The pulpit committee, which was appointed to recommend a successor to Dr. Staff, considered a large number of men for the position and were unanimous in agreeing upon Mr. Pritchard as their choice.

Mr. Pritchard is a native of Rhode Island, educated at Brown University, Union Seminary and Columbia University. He has held important pastorates at White Plains and Scarsdale, N. Y., was pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church in Pasadena, acted as director of religious education in the First Congregational Church of Pasadena, and has had a wide range of experience. He has a wife and one son. They will come to Sierra Madre to make their home as soon as they can dispose of their Pasadena home.

Mr. Pritchard's letter of acceptance in answer to the invitation to the pastorate is as follows:

Letter of Acceptance
 Pasadena, Jan. 14.—To the officers and Members of the First Congregational church of Sierra Madre.

My Dear Friends: The call to serve as the pastor of your church has been received. It gives one a peculiar thrill to realize that in the providence of God he is asked by a group of Christians to lead them in the exceedingly important and sacred duties of the church. In this case it is peculiarly so, inasmuch as the call is unanimous. Feeling that I am truly led by the spirit of love and truth, and that my decision is in the interest of the great cause of Christ and his church, I accept the call to be your pastor and will begin my duties at once.

In looking over the field entrusted to your church for its cultivation, I am deeply impressed with the opportunities and responsibilities before us. Your church has a long history, as history goes in Southern California, in Christian service. But there remains much to be done in the presence of a growing community, and in the presence of the larger responsibilities placed upon the church in this day and age. But we can do our part in the great task, if we devotedly stand together in the spirit of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Master.

I look forward to the coming years with great confidence and joy. Wishing you grace, mercy and peace, I am sincerely your friend,

ARTHUR O. PRITCHARD.

CRASH VICTIM STILL HOVERS NEAR DEATH

Miss Helen King, who was injured in an automobile accident in Pasadena on New Year's day continues to be in a very serious condition, according to late reports. She is still in the Methodist hospital with life held by a slender thread. The critical period may last for some time, and at best it is said there is no chance for her leaving the hospital for some months.

In addition to the fracture of the leg bones it was feared there might be a skull fracture, but it is understood this has not been definitely determined. Miss King's many friends in Sierra Madre have awaited the outcome of the accident with keenest concern.

Little, secretary; Anni Baldaugh, treasurer.

Plans are formed for the annual exhibition, which will be open at the Biltmore Salon Feb. 1 to continue at the Pasadena Art Institute and at the Friday Morning Club during March.

Degree Work Tuesday Night

Conferring of the degree of Master Mason next Tuesday night is announced for Sierra Madre Lodge No. 408, F. & A. M., by H. E. Allen, master of the lodge. A full attendance is desired, and a cordial invitation is extended to visiting members of the fraternity. Meetings begin at 7:30 sharp.

The regular meeting of Sierra Madre Chapter No. 299 order of the Eastern Star, will be held next Monday night in the Masonic temple, 33 East Central avenue.

Mrs. Webster Is Called to Rest

Closing a long and useful life, Mrs. Margaret Webster passed away on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. F. Snell, 94 Canyon avenue, at the age of 84 years. She was the widow of the late Rev. Robert M. Webster, for many years prominent as a Congregational clergyman.

Mrs. Webster was born in London in 1842. She was educated in private schools in England and came to America with her parents when 15 years of age. She began teaching school soon after their arrival in the pioneer state of Iowa. In 1864 she was married to Mr. Webster and went with him to Oberlin Seminary where he pursued his studies for the ministry and where she also attended the classes, although co-education was not yet on a firm basis. After spending 20 years in the ministry in Wisconsin Mr. and Mrs. Webster came to California. Mr. Webster organized and served as pastor for the Long Beach Congregational church for many years. He also served a number of other churches in and near Los Angeles. In all this ministry Mrs. Webster was an active and helpful co-worker, endeavoring herself to a multitude of people, in addition to rearing a splendid family. Their last years were spent in Sierra Madre at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Snell.

Four daughters are left by Mrs. Webster, Mrs. J. M. Williams, Mrs. B. P. Oakford and Mrs. H. W. Spencer of Pasadena, and Mrs. Snell of Sierra Madre. She also leaves a brother, Rev. J. J. Webster of Patton, and two sisters, Mrs. Hand and Miss Fannie Webster of Pasadena. Private funeral services were held and interment was made in San Gabriel cemetery, on Tuesday, with only members of the family present.

P. C. Matthews

P. C. Matthews, for many years a prominent business man of Ennis, Texas, passed away Sunday at 3 West Carter avenue where he had resided since last August. He was born in Illinois in 1867 but had resided in Texas since young manhood. After retiring from active business he was engaged in the real estate field in Long Beach for a time before coming to Sierra Madre. In 1889 he married Miss Virgie L. Thompson who, with two sons, survives him. He also leaves two brothers in Long Beach. Services were held at the Grant funeral parlors Monday and interment took place at Compton.

Mrs. George Humphries, who was away about three weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Elwood and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baugh of Los Angeles, returned home Friday. On Saturday and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Humphries of Los Angeles were her guests.

Alhambra Is Host to The City Planners

Last Saturday the Association of City Planners met in the Athletic Club house at Alhambra, at noon. Mrs. J. W. Lowther, president of the association, presided.

During the luncheon D. W. Pontius, manager for the Pacific Electric railway company, gave a brief outline of the plan proposed by the joint railroad committee on the matter of the location of a union terminal. Hugh Pomeroy replied with plans of the city of Los Angeles for a large union terminal to be located in the district included in the new civic center, and showed how well this plan fitted into the magnificent arrangement for the center, and how very well the traveling public would be accommodated thereby. A program of delightful music was rendered by Jose Aria's Mexican orchestra, after which the audience listened to a talk over the radio by Mr. G. Gordon Whitnall.

The address of welcome to the association was given by E. Burlingame, president of Alhambra's planning commission, followed by M. H. Irvine, city manager of Alhambra, who told of the plans and problems of his city planning commission.

George H. Barnes, president the American reforestation association, gave his audience a lengthy talk on the needs of this country in the matter of reforestation. He said that this part of the state was particularly in need of wider education in this subject.

Prof. Ralph Ball of the Los Angeles high school department told of the various kinds of trees best adapted to street planting, and the need for intelligent care after planting.

About 150 persons were present, representatives coming from 34 different communities. Sierra Madre was represented by Mrs. W. J. Lawless, Mrs. May H. Roberts, Mrs. Fletcher White, Mrs. Emil Sturmthal, Mrs. W. Griebenow, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burbank and Mrs. Grace Caukin.

Announcement was made that the next meeting would be held the second Saturday in February in Beverly Hills.

Los Angeles Park Plans

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawless and Mrs. Grace B. Caukin attended the meeting of the city planning association of Los Angeles at a dinner at the Men's City club Tuesday evening, Jan. 12. The principal subject was neighborhood parks. The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Francis Noel and were E. Shearer, superintendent of parks; J. L. Glenn, head of physical education in the Los Angeles schools, and Dr. A. Ryland of the playground commission. The need for a larger area for neighborhood parks was emphasized, and the speakers showed the audience in what way these departments could and did cooperate.

N. Braden gave a brief talk on the work of the national playground commission.

Now You Tell One!

Claremont Courier: John Reid Pierce has a cat that raises very fine kittens. Not long ago he gave one of the kittens to a family who live out in the open spaces where men are men and cats must be mousers. The other day, John says, he went to see how the kitten was getting along. "I asked if he was a good mouse-catcher," he told me afterward, "and they said he caught six the day before." "But won't the cat get so fat eating that many that pretty soon he won't catch any more?" John was asked. "Oh, no," he explained. "The cat doesn't eat them. He lays them out in a row on the back porch, and then the folks come out and brag on them. That's all he catches them for, is so the people will brag on them."

Woman's Club Notes

(Mrs. F. H. White, Press Chrm.)

The Sierra Madre Woman's club met Wednesday, Jan. 13, for its regular monthly luncheon meeting. Luncheon was served to approximately 150 members and guests. All food was furnished by the Associated Manufacturers and served under the direction of Mrs. Doris West, advertising demonstrator. She was assisted by the girls of the eighth grade under the supervision of Mrs. Zayda Leonard, of Home Economics in the Sierra Madre school. The work of this department is always in line for laurels, particularly the cooking section. Nothing is more conducive to the well being of the race than wholesome food properly prepared and attractively served.

Mrs. West had her wares well in hand and her method of presenting her offering was more like a confidential hostess letting her guests in on a treasured discovery than the professional advertiser "putting it across."

Miss Moore of Pasadena spoke on organized playground activities during the luncheon.

The afternoon session was called to order by Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones, first vice president, Miss Klemme being absent. When the business of the club was disposed of the meeting was given over to Miss Steinberger, principal of the school. It might be termed school day at the club. Miss Steinberger presented Miss Mary Pfahler, supervisor of school music, in a group of piano numbers. Her rendition showed smooth technique and sympathetic interpretation. All her numbers were heartily received.

The eighth grade girls presented a playlet, "The Budget Ghost."

Amateur theatricals are sometimes trying; not so in this case. The point in their offering was thrift, and very cleverly did the Ghost and her associates personify the various phases of household budgeting. By cooperation between financial and educational institutions as in the present thrift movement, real economy becomes an idea of exact value to youth where habits have their roots. Mrs. Kendall of the public school coached the girls for the play, and directed its presentation.

The date for the "Hard Times Ball" has been changed from the evening of Jan. 29 to the evening of Jan. 30. Be sure to salvage a costume from the Salvation Army donation bag.

Protest against the policy advocated by Mrs. Julius Kahn, member of congress, was voted after some discussion. Mrs. Kahn favors modification of the Volstead law to permit the sale of light wine and beer. The vote stood 45 in favor of the protest and 34 opposing it. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Miss Grant, Mrs. Seeley and Mrs. J. A. Osgood, with authority to prepare and forward the resolution of protest.

A. S. Koonse

Arthur S. Koonse, world war veteran, paid with his life the price of service for his country, passing away last Sunday at the age of 29 years. He was a native of Ohio, and had later been a resident of Pennsylvania. A victim of gas in active service, he came to California six years ago in the hope of benefit from the milder climate. He was for a time associated with the Julian Petroleum corporation. He was a member of the American Legion and Masonic lodge at Woodlawn, Pa., and also of the Scottish rite. Members of the Legion were pall bearers at the funeral services which were conducted on Tuesday at the Grant funeral parlors by Dr. Elwood P. Lyon. Mr. Koonse is survived by his mother, Mrs. Clara Jackson, and by a brother in Pennsylvania.

OF good chicken gravy, With coffee on the side, AND then we'll wind up

WITH a big quarter SECTION of pumpkin pie

New Library Books Boost Circulation

One book apiece for something more than half the population of Sierra Madre is the circulation indicated by the December report of Miss Lulu Moore, city librarian. The total circulation for the month was 2958 volumes, which is an exceedingly good showing, even if many people in Sierra Madre do fail to take advantage of the splendid library facilities offered them.

Of the total circulation, 2245 was adult literature and 713 juvenile. Adult fiction formed 53 per cent of the total, adult non-fiction 22 per cent, and juvenile circulation 25 per cent. The total represents a gain of 78 over the same month last year. There were 21 new patrons enrolled during the month.

The following books were added in December:

Adult Fiction

Adult Non-Fiction

American Poetry 1925; John Macy: Story of the World's Literature; Jeanne Bordeaux: Eleanor Duse; David Grayson: Adventures in Understanding; John Drinkwater: Anthology of English Verse; William Mitchell: Winged Defense; Ida Tarbell: Life of Judge Gary; Harvey Cushing: Sir William Osler; Burns Mantle: Best Plays of 1924-25.

Juvenile

Ralph Henry Barbour: Barry Locks, Halfback; Archie Collins: Amateur Photographers' Handbook; Alice Seaman: Bluebonnet Bend; Irving Crump: Og, Boy of Battle; Francis Bolt-Wheeler: Boy With the U. S. Radio; C. J. Finger: Tales from Silver Lands; Van Cleve: Folk Dances for Young People; Samuel Scoville: Red Diamond; Jane Abbott: Barberry Gate; J. B. Hendryx: Connie Morgan With the Forest Rangers; Pemberton Ginther: Hilda of the Green Smock; Thornton W. Burgess: Little Joe Otter; Alice Curtis: Yankee Girl at Gettysburg.

TRY THIS ONE

—IT'S RED HOT!

Sierra Madre, Jan. 14.—Editor The News: I was much interested in this week's editorial regarding the correct and incorrect pronunciation of the name of our town. There seems to be just about as many different ways of pronouncing "Sierra Madre" as there are "pronouncers." Which isn't to be wondered at when we note the difference of opinion among the scholars and the high-brows as to how it ought to be done.

Before coming here, and while yet a resident of another state, I had an argument with myself and my better half as to how to pronounce the name of the town we had talked about in our dreams. We had lived in a village that had been divided against itself for half a century over the question of how to properly speak its name. We had no desire to live where folks were forever wrangling over "which is" and "which ain't." So we consulted the experts and the best one among them, an old Mexican hot tamale peddler, showed me how it was done: First, boil the tamale, bite it while it is red hot, then throw back your head and say, "See-eera-Mah-thray. Quien sabe?"

Now, if you will look it up in the Century Dictionary, as I have done several times, you will find that the old hot tamale merchant was right: He knew his Spanish: You must put the "th" on the final syllable, and bring it out with a nice, long splutter. About the only way this can be done, properly, is to use the hot tamale as indicated. To do this will at once ostracize you from the select circles. But it's the price the intelligentsia must pay for doing the correct thing.

La mentira tiene las piernas cortas. Quien sabe? In other words, more chicken and less pepper. I am, yours faithfully, DENNIS H. STOVALL.

Beautify Your City By Beautifying Your Home

YOU home owners who take pride in appearances should know the value of good window shades in home decorating. The beauty of your home depends upon correct color harmony and color harmony is best secured with Luxor window shades.

Change your window shades more often. See what life and beauty an occasional change in color in window shades will add to the appearance of your home. In the beautiful Luxor line there are several tints that will harmonize with the color scheme of any home.

Many home owners have solved the seasonal decorating problem by having on hand two sets of shades, light colored shades for winter use and darker colored shades for spring and summer. A new decorative effect each season is the result.

Luxor window shades not only beautify but they wear. Being unfilled they will not crack or break even after years of service. The pure, permanent oil colorings are applied by hand. The light which filters through Luxor's translucent fabric is a soft, mellow light that is uniformly diffused to all parts of the room, restful to the eye and a protection to the delicate colorings of drapes and upholstery.

Standard guaranteed rollers should be used to insure years of satisfactory service.

Look at your window shades from the exterior of your home. See them as your neighbor sees them. Be sure to see our new book "Color Harmony with Luxor Window Shades" at our store. It presents the application of window shades in a new and unusual manner.

DO YOU KNOW THIS OLD SONG?

Mrs. Cynthia Holmes of 170 San Gabriel Court has requested the News to try to find the complete words of an old song which was familiar when she was a girl. She can remember only one stanza and thought it might remind someone where a copy could be found. She thinks it was printed in an old school reader. The one stanza is as follows:

O come to the mountains; the first break of day
Will lead us so far from the valley away.
With bugle and spirit the mountains we'll climb
Where men walk with nature in grandeur sublime.

GOVERNOR TO OPEN ANNUAL ORANGE SHOW

For the fourth consecutive year Governor Friend W. Richardson will officially open the National Orange Show in San Bernardino. This year's citrus classic, the sixteenth, will run from Feb. 18 to 28 inclusive and will be a larger and better balanced presentation than any of its successful predecessors.

Over 40 acres will be given over to the six expositions which combined make up California's greatest midwinter event. Committeemen are now at work perfecting plans to make each of the departments larger and better than in previous years.

DOMAIN where Nature's fairest face
Reflects the charm of morning's glance,
Its rivalry of strength and grace,
The mirrored soul of all romance.

Adventure's most alluring name,
The best beloved of fortune's quest,
A world frontier whose beacon flame
Lights all the highway of the West.

Its winnowed wealth, its treasure trove,
The ages' hoards, for him who dares;
The teeming fruits of field and grove
Awaiting him who plants and cares.

Where yesterday the herald bells
Awakened a disant, dreaming land,
Its commerce throbs and culture dwells,
Its orchards bloom and cities stand.

The State whose buoyant life looks on
To farther fields and ocean ways,
And sees beyond tomorrow's dawn
The shining sails of future days.

NIGHT ON THE FOOTHILLS

SIERRA MADRE people who boast about pure air up here on he foothills usually have in mind the air they breathe. For health and happiness nothing is more important than pure air, as multitudes will testify who have found healing here.

Comparatively few, however, realize the pleasure which is made available here by the clarity of the air, which seems to bring the stars a little closer here than almost any other habitable place which can be found.
On Mount Wilson scientists have found one of the most perfect observation points on the whole earth. Sierra Madre is peculiarly favored in the same respect, as has been discovered with delight by many students of astronomy. Contrary to common belief, there is no difficulty about acquiring sufficient knowledge of astronomy to give a great deal of pleasure. It is a simple matter to get on speaking terms with the principal constellations and objects in the heavens. Once this is learned there is never ending fascination in watching the ascendant stars coming into view from season to season after their annual period of disappearance.

Just now the night skies offer their most spectacular constellations, and will be interesting for months to come. Orion holds the center of the stage, flanked by Canis Major with Sirius, the most dazzling of all the fixed stars. A good glass on a clear night will enable one to distinguish the fuzzy object known as the great nebula in Orion. Mt. Wilson photographs show it to be one of the most awe inspiring objects in the heavens. Almost overhead in the early evening are the Pleiades. Near by is Taurus, the red color of Aldebaran in strong contrast to the flashing blue-white of Sirius.
Andromeda and Cassiopeia are already dipping down into the northwest. But Ursa Major is coming up into the northeast, its Big Dipper about the only star group which many people ever succeed in identifying.

Near the zenith is Auriga, with Capella a star of commanding brilliance if it were not Outshone by Sirius. Castor and Pollux, Procyon and many other easily identified stars are prominent now.

All these interesting characters of the skies are easily identified with a simple star
map. These are obtainable at the public library in a number of non-technical books, and in various periodicals including the Scientific American and the Star-News. For those who will take the trouble to give them just a little study a fascinating field will be opened up, with conditions so favorable as to be unknown to localities not favored with the clear air prevailing in Sierra Madre.

EARLY COPY GETS BETTER RESULT

Advertisers who get their copy in the hands of the News staff early help make the advertising much more valuable, says the Upland News.

The News composing room is working against great odds when it is forced to take late advertising copy. The "ad" setters do their best to make display type tell the story, no matter under what circumstances the copy reaches them. But these men are experts in their line, and they like to do their work right. They have the pride of an artist in their work. Anything less than their best they accept as an unavoidable compromise.

The paper can be made to look better typographically and it will be read more widely if merchants will get their advertising copy in as early as possible.

The News wants to be of the greatest possible service to the community. To do this it must reach the readers in time to be of value to them. A good New Year resolution for the advertising business men of this city would be: "Resolved, to increase my business by getting my advertising copy into the News office in good time."

PASSING UP PROFITS FOR TRUTH

One of the most praiseworthy bits of journalistic enterprise seen in a long time was that of the Pasadena Star-News on New Year's day. After the collapse of the grand stand on Colorado street the air was full of exaggerated and conflicting reports, some to the effect that scores of people had been killed, and hundreds injured. Los Angeles papers had extras on the street in Pasadena which created alarm and gave little definite information. To ease the public mind by broadcasting the truth, Mr. Prisk had printed something like 65,000 copies of an extra, showing that no one had been killed and giving as complete a list of the injured as was obtainable. These extras were distributed free among the crowd filling the Rose Bowl to see the Alabama-Washington football game. The papers were passed out by Boy Scout volunteers.

SEWERS AND PROGRESS

One factor that should not be overlooked in considering the sewer project is its relation to industry and development.
Under present regulations individual home owners and business houses may go on indefinitely, digging cesspools and saturating the soil. But no large institution, such as a hotel, sanitarium, school, college, or industrial concern, will locate where there are no sewer facilities. If Sierra Madre does not make some provision for sewage disposal it might as well put up a sign saying such institutions are not wanted.

MAKING MODERN SALESMEN

IN the course of a recent speech, President Harry H. Culver of the California Real Estate association, gave the following advice to salesmen, particularly those in the real estate profession:

"If you are applying for a position, instead of saying, 'I own my own car,' say, 'I own my own home.'"

And when the job is won, the salesman should adhere to these rules set down by Mr. Culver:

"No more chair warming.
"No more half-holidays.
"No more afternoon picture shows.
"No more misrepresentation, deception or exaggeration.
"Nothing from now on, boys, but WORK."

THE BEGGARS

They beg to inquire, and they beg to state,
They beg to advise and they beg to relate,
They beg to observe and they beg to mention,
They beg to call your kind attention.

They beg to remark and they beg to remind,
They beg to inform and you will herein find;
They beg to announce and beg to intrude;
They beg to explain and they beg to include;
They beg to acknowledge and they beg to reply;

They beg to apologize, beg to deny;
They reluctantly beg for a moment of time;
They beg to make you an offer sublime;
Till I wish I could put the annoying array
Of beggars on horseback and send them away.

CHIROPRACTIC Health Service

ON MONTHLY BASIS FOR CHRONIC CONDITIONS

Have you a chronic condition, one that for months or years has interfered with your enjoyment of business or home life—a condition not serious, but just a constant annoyance to you, such as constipation, stomach trouble, bilious attacks, deafness, chronic bronchitis, lumbago, neuritis, and many others?

Ninety per cent of these conditions respond to chiropractic adjustments.

But you can hardly expect a few adjustments to effect a cure in a condition of long standing, can you?

Therefore it is only fair to you and to the chiropractor that you continue your adjustments long enough to obtain results.

Beginning January 15, I will offer a CHIROPRACTIC HEALTH SERVICE on a monthly basis, a plan being adopted by the majority of chiropractors as most satisfactory and fair to their patients.

This service will be offered at a flat monthly rate of $25 cash, and will entitle you to complete chiropractic analysis periodically, and a minimum of 15 adjustments and as many more as seem necessary for your condition. If an acute condition develops during the month, it will be taken care of without extra charge.

By this plan you will be free to come for your adjustments as often as necessary, and the opportunity for you to get well and for the chiropractor to demonstrate his skill, will be greatly increased.

You cannot afford to be sick.
Come in and talk it over.

Gold Prospectors Seek Yellow Metal in Monrovia Hills

Monrovia Post: That many Monrovia residents are planning trips into the mountains to look for gold, is the news that is coming to Thomas Byrum, credited with the discovery, within four miles of Monrovia city limits, of a two-foot vein that shows valuable streaks of gold, silver and copper. Mr. Byrum and Dick Monroe, his partner, have done their assessment work for this year and are planning to develop their property with the idea of determining the amount of their ore body.

Desk Sergeant Clint Seem of the Monrovia police department said that in the early days his father had used to "dry wash" for gold in the small canyon in Norumbega Heights, now the residence of C. T. Renaker. Sufficient showings of gold were found at times to make fair wages, Mr. Seem said.

Traces of the old water ditch from Spanish Canyon around to base of the mountains to Bliss canyon are still to be found. This ditch was built at a cost of $75,000 and used to carry water around on the south side of the canyon, there to be used in hydraulic and placer mining, where may thousands of dollars worth of gold was taken out.

The canyon that is now the locale for the Norumbega Town and Country club's golf course was once extensively mined as placer diggings and a quantity of dust gleaned from the sand. In the early seventies a cloudburst washed the canyon clean of earth and sand to bedrock, scattering the previous metal over Duarte citrus ranches below.

"There's gold all through the mountains but the veins are so faulted that they 'pinch out' and are impossible to trace," declared another amateur prospector. Chas. Slowensky, shoe dealer of Monrovia, has often found traces of gold but has never succeeded in locating any valuable prospects.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben F. Stone of Gardner, Mass., are spending the winter with Lyman Raymond of West Montecito avenue, Mrs. Stone's brother. Mr. Stone is one of the prominent chair manufacturers of Gardner, the famous chair town.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Olsen report that last Saturday saw the biggest day's business in the history of the Olsen shoe store. Likewise, it wound up the biggest week's business. Two days of the sale advertised in last week's News contributed largely to the result.

If the Pasadena Poultry show had had any more ribbons to hand out last week for Wyandottes and Dorking chickens, they would doubtless have come to Sierra Madre. Entries by W. C. Kennedy and Mrs. R. C. Allen made a clean sweep of the awards for Silver Laced and Columbian Wyandottes. Mr. Kennedy's Silver Gray Dorkings made a similar record. He also sold a pen of Columbian Wyandottes and two settings of eggs at fancy prices.

Fred Pagenkopf had his Ford touring car stolen last Friday afternoon, when he and his wife left it for a few minutes near the corner of Second and Los Angeles streets. The car was recovered a few hours later, with practically everything removable stripped from it. The car was found by the police near 7th and Alameda, and it was evident the thieves had been interrupted, as they left the battery and carburetor, which had been loosened. All tires and rims and even the top were taken. The thief must have been on the lookout and stepped into the car almost immediately after Mr. Pagenkopf stepped out.

Four Features To Be Shown In One Week

In "Lovers in Quarantine," her latest starring picture for Paramount, Bebe Daniels convincingly bridges the gap between an ungainly, ludicrous child with a secret admiration for her elder sister's beau to a beautiful, gorgeously gowned, poised woman, who captivates that young fellow almost in spite of himself. This feature comes to the Wistaria Sunday and Monday. The story is a screen version of the Broadway stage hit, "Quarantine," by F. Tennyson Jesse and includes Harrison Ford in a featured role opposite the star. Other big names in the cast are Alfred Lunt, Edna Gray, Edna May Oliver and Diana Kane. The picture brings Bebe to the screen as an awkward, unkempt, mischievous young girl who substitutes for her sister on her honeymoon trip. It's a real riot of laughs when the unsuspecting bridegroom discovers the mistake. If you thought "Miss Bluebeard" was funny, just take in this one!

Soul Mates
English flappers are portrayed by Rose Blossom and Mary Stuart in Jack Conway's production of "Soul Mates," which comes Tuesday and Wednesday to the Wistaria. Aileen Pringle and Edmund Lowe have the featured roles in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

Wife Not Wanted
There is a delightful little romance, a bit of tragedy, a strong dramatic situation, and many thrills in "The Wife Who Was Not Wanted," the Thursday attraction. The principal roles are played by Irene Rich and Huntley Gordon. James Flood has made a fine job of this picturization of Gertie Wentworth-James's novel, which John Mescall photographed. A picture you'll want to see.

The Beautiful City
There are spectacular and exciting episodes without end in "The Beautiful City," the first National attraction, starring Richard Barthelmess, which comes on Friday and Saturday. One of these shows a gangster, fleeing from the police, jumping from the roof of a high building and falling to his death in a vain attempt to reach the adjoining roof.

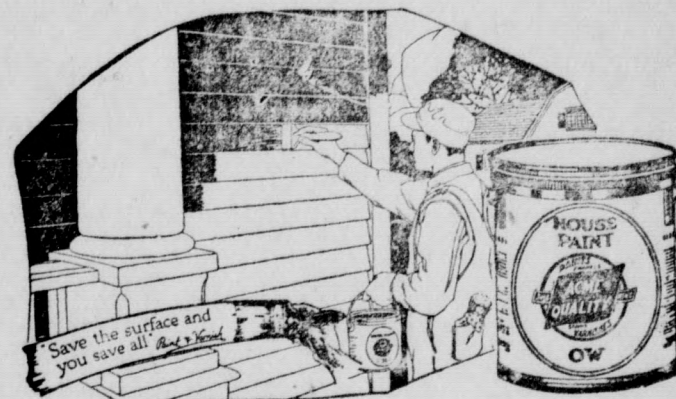

DO BETTER NEXT TIME
Information received a day or two ago by Mrs. R. G. Franklin, giving details of an automobile accident in Dade City, Florida, in which her sister, Mrs. F. H. Bobbitt, and other members of her family miraculously escaped instant death was heard with deep regret by scores of friends and relatives here.—News item in the Elkin (N. C.) Tribune.

The accompanying map of the Metropolitan Sewer System gives a splendid idea of the magnitude of the undertaking which was discussed at the chamber of commerce meeting Monday evening.

A bond election will be held on Jan. 26 in District No. 7 to determine whether this part of the San Gabriel valley will participate in the plan.

Alhambra To Stage Great Fruit Show

Commensurate in its scope and beauty with the enormous crop of fruit of all kinds produced during the past year in California, which has returned to the growers between $180,000,000 and $190,000,000, the opening of the California Fruit Exposition at Alhambra Jan. 21 marks one of the most important events of this character ever inaugurated in the Southwest. The exposition will continue until Jan. 31.

The exhibits entered in the fruit department include, practically every variety of citrus, deciduous and subtropical fruits grown in California and come from all parts of the state. Besides the immenses displays of oranges, lemons and grapefruit of the finest quality and the varied classes of apples, pears, peaches, apricots and other deciduous fruits, an interesting feature of the exposition will be the largest exhibits of avocados ever shown in America, including more than 70 varieties.

Due to the unusual warmth of the winter and the absence of frost, there are more flowers in bloom in most parts of the state at this time than in any previous January within the memory of the floriculturists, with the result that the midwinter flower show to be held in connection with the exposition will be the largest and most varied that has ever been held in California at this season.

The setting provided for the fruit and flower exhibits is novel and beautiful. The displays are seen through Moorish arches, the decorative detail having been faithfully reproduced from that of the world-famed old Palace of the Alhambra at Granada, Spain, and as a background for the fruit there has been completed a panoramic oil painting of California

SEWER SYSTEM IS EXPLAINED

first cost and average life of cesspools Mr. Warren calculated the annual average as about equal to the tax rate on a home with an assessed valuation of $2500.

Protection to Health

Aside from direct costs, Mr. Warren pointed out a number of advantages to be derived from a satisfactory sewage disposal system. The big feature is, of course, that of sanitation. Cesspools are only a makeshift with many dangers attendant upon their use. As population becomes more crowded some kind of sewer and disposal system becomes necessary. Sewer farms and disposal plants have proven unsatisfactory, especially in areas with population as dense as it is becoming in the San Gabriel valley. Even assuming that a disposal plant could be located in the valley where it would not give offense, the effluent must be disposed of. With the best result that can be achieved in the treatment plant, it cannot be claimed that it is a desirable addition to the underground water reservoirs which supply such a large proportion of Los Angeles county.

At the close of his address Mr. Warren invited questions but his exposition of the topic had been so thorough that only one or two were offered. One of these concerned the method of reaching Sierra Madre. Mr. Warren pointed out on the map the trunk line from Flintridge and Altadena coming eastward along Live Oak avenue to Santa Anita avenue and then down through Arcadia.

Railway Station Plans

Ed. C. Thomas, popular representative of the Pacific Electric railway, opened the program with a brief address setting forth the reasons why the railroads oppose the plaza union terminal station project and what the railroads offer as a substitute.

Mr. Thomas made the point that union stations are not a necessity, that they do not accomplish the purposes claimed for them. He argued that the proposed plan is faulty in not providing proper connection with the local distributing transportation lines, that the tracks running into it are stub lines instead of permitting prompt movement of trains through it, and that the cost would be excessive and unreasonable.

The Railway Alternative

As a substitute for the union station plan, Mr. Thomas urged that the Santa Fe be allowed to build an adequate station on its present site, that the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific continue to use the present Arcadia station, and that the Pacific Electric be allowed to continue the elevated line eastward from the rear of the Main street station across the Los Angeles river, with connection serving the Arcadia and Santa Fe stations. This plan would eliminate railroad grade crossings along the Los Angeles river basin, would take railway traffic off of Alameda street except for industrial switching which would be done at night, would go a long way toward speeding up automobile traffic in that part of the city, and would greatly speed up interurban train schedules in and out of the Main street station. This program, Mr. Thomas said, the railroads are ready to put into effect just as soon as permission is granted and could complete all construction work in about 18 months.
